

Journal of our intended voyage by God's permission in the Brig. Ann, Diederick Wise commander starting from Liverpool to Saint Vincent. We started from St. Vincent back to Liverpool Oct. 10, 1776.

List of American vessels laying at Whampoa in the seadon of 1789
A journal of an intended passage in the Brig. Three Sisters, Benjamin Webb, commander from Salem to The Cape of Good Hope. Our desired port is Salem. Spoke with a ship from Canton to London, Caleb Gilbert, master.

A journal of anotherpassage from the Cape of Good Hope to Batavia in the same Brig. in company with the Brig. Henry, the Capt. is Benjamin Crowninshield bound for the Isle of France. We opened some raisins and found they had magots in them. We came upon a Brig. with Richard Fuller the commander.

A Dutch Snow lay ahead of us, we sent the boat ahead to get a pilot, but returned with out one. The Capt. and officers on board her were sick and required a surgeon. Capt. Webb went on board the ship Astracandad found a Mr. Bray in bad health. Mr. Blanchard got permission to sell the flour, wheat, butter, and candles.

Part of a letter from Diederick Wise to his sister. A copy of a letter written by Capt. Wise to a Mr. Cunningham, telling him of being taken by an American Privateer, The cargo and vessel was condemned and sold. He sent the letter by Capt. Deane. A sketch of a boyage from Salem in North America to the Cape of Good Hope. Batavia, China. Copies of several songs and let ers. Nothing else important.

Log book of an English vessel captured by an American privateer August 1776; it contains copies of letters written by Dictrich Wise, the captain while a prisoner at Swansea.
